

NEW ZEALAND WEDDINGS

January 2011

Say bye-bye to red wine stains!

Red wine! Disasters always seem to happen when you're wearing your prettiest dress and drinking a glass of Cab Sav.

And the beautiful gown you've dreamed of and saved for is not a dress you want to see splattered with unsightly stains!

While not all brides wear white to their big day, most wedding's have red wine on the menu. And all it takes is a boisterous guest to tipple their glass, and the dress of your dreams is ruined.

Here's three tips to avoid wedding day disaster:

- 1) It's important to act quickly! For new wine stains, blot fabric with white vinegar and warm water.
- 2) For old stains, sprinkle bicarbonate of soda, pour on a little white vinegar and wash with warm water, until stain is gone.
- 3) If you'd rather not smell like vinegar on your special day, we love The Wine Away Red Wine Stain Emergency Kit. Made from Citrus products, it's ingredients are natural and free from bleach and phosphates. And it comes with three mini bottles of wine-stain remover - a handy fit for your beauty bag!

It's definitely our pick of the bunch, for a quick, mess-free way to say bye-bye to stubborn wine stains.

DO YOU HAVE A SAVVY STAIN REMOVER TIP FOR US? WE HAVE A WINE AWAY STAIN EMERGENCY KIT TO GIVEAWAY.

Simply post your favourite natural remedy for a tricky stain, and be in for a chance to win!

